

Elgaali, Magda Mohamed, 2015.

Levels, Structure and Determinants of the Participation of Youth (15-24) in Labour Force in Sudan with Special Reference to the Middle Region, 2011. (324).

The study examines the levels, structure characteristics and determinants of participation in labour force among youth age 15-24 in the middle region in Sudan.

Specifically, the author tries to:

- Examine the levels and structure of youth participation in labour force.
- Examine the characteristics and structures of youth labour force.
- Identify the demographic and socio-economic factors affecting, youth unemployment.

Whenever possible, the above objectives will be pursued by supplementary data from Sudan labour force Survey, 2011 and the middle region of Sudan was selected for this study due to that fact and the last census conducted in 2008.

The author used both descriptive and multivariate analysis to examine the relationship between the dependent and independent factors.