

Fhameda Alam. 2010.

Violence against Women in Bangladesh (2007).

The thesis aims at exploring and analyzing domestic violence against women and its impact on child mortality in Bangladesh.

The study aims to carry out an in-depth analysis of the existing data to reflect the current situation regarding domestic violence in Bangladesh; to identify the main determinants of domestic violence in Bangladesh; and to over view current policies regarding decreasing domestic violence.

The study depends on the Bangladesh DHS 2007; this study applied a descriptive, in-depth, analytical methods to link the relation between domestic violence and the socio-economic characteristics of women.