

Maree Ahmed Musleh, 2013.

Levels and Differentials of Disabled Persons in Palestine, 2011. (308)

The main goal of this study is to identify the levels and differentials of disabled persons in Palestine.

The specific objectives of the study are:

- To examine the recent levels, types and causes of disability problems in Palestine.
- -To identify the socio-economic and demographic differentials of disabled persons.
- To find out the obstacles and barriers facing disabled persons to be integrated in life aspects in the Palestinian society.
- To examine the impact of disability on disabled persons and their families.
- To identify different determinants of disability status.

The main sources of data are 'Disabled Individuals Survey 2011', Population, Housing and Establishment Census of 1997 and 2007, and The Palestinian Family Health Survey, 2006.

The study is based on both, descriptive while the approached analytical approaches.