

Mohammed Ben Humaid AL-Jabri, 2005

Levels and Determinants of Living Conditions in the Sultanate of Oman

(2003).

The main objectives of this research are outlined as follows: to describe recent levels of living conditions in the Sultanate of Oman to identify the disparities of living conditions between governorates/regions in the country, to determine some demographic and socioeconomic factors that affect living conditions, to know the disparities among the population in the country and consider the socio-economic and demographic background information. The data used in the study come from:

the General Census of Population and Housing (2003). The living conditions Index (LCI) was used, also wealth Index (WI) based on the data related to the average price item ownership.