

Naneese Mourice Matta, 2008

The Economic Aspects of Food Gap in Egypt in the Light of Local and Global Changes.

The study focuses on:-

Examining the trend of production in Egypt and its effect on the most important strategic food commodities during the study period (1990-2005). The study attempt to follow the trend of consumption and the covering of imports for domestic consumption, and examining the factors affecting it for the most important strategic food commodities during the study period (1990-2005). Finally, estimating the volume of the food gap, the percentage of self sufficiency and analyzing the factors affecting the size of the food gap.